Profile

Having been in the workforce for nearly 20 years, I have an extensive and varied work history in a number of fields, from IT services and security research, administrative assistance, the hospitality industry, and even yoga and massage therapy. Like many people, I have often found it necessary to hold several positions at once. This has led me to cultivate an array of valuable skills and abilities including but not limited to multiple operating systems, data and work management platforms, social media management, graphic design, strong communication and interpersonal skills, and a sure sense of adaptability. Through my diverse experience I have developed a blend of technical and creative skills, as well as a strong work ethic which I seek to leverage towards success in any endeavor I take part in.
